TELEPHONE LORE

GLENDALE FIRST IN INCREASE OF SUBSCRIBERS IN STA-TIONS OF 2500 TO 5000

The Pacific Telephone Magazine is a publication issued in San Francisco for distribution among the employees of the Telephone Co. on this coast. In the September number is a list of the stations owned by the company by groups arranged according to the number of phones in use. Glendale is in Group No. 4, comprising 12 stations, each having from 2500 to 5000 phones. Of these one is in Nevada, Reno; four are in Washington, Aberdeen, Yakima, Bellingham and Walla Walla; one is in Oregon, Salem; six are in California, Glendale, Bakersfield, Eureka, San Mateo, Riverside and Alameda. Glendale shows the greatest increase in her group since Jan. 1, 1920, which is 15.43 per cent. She had 2241 phones Jan. 1st, has added 346 since, making the present total 2587. The nearest in percentage of increase to Glendale is Walla Walla, Wash., 12.57 per cent.

In the table given there are seven groups listed, the stations having from 300 up to more than 20,000 subscribers. The greatest increase noted is that of Santa Cruz, in group five, from 1885 to 2416 subscribers, a gain of 28.01 per cent. Burbank is next, in group seven, with an increase from 337 to 416, or 23.44 per cent.

There are just five stations with more than 20,000 subscribers each and these are Los Angeles, Oakland, Portland, San Francisco, Seattle and Spokane.

Attend Grand Chapter

Mrs. Sallie Campbell Braden, Worthy Matron of Glen Eyrie Chapter, O. E. S., and Mrs. Dan Campbell leave Friday to attend the Grand Chapter of the State of California, which will meet at San Francisco. Mrs. Campbell is a candidate for the office of Associate Grand Matron of the Grand Chapter of the State of California, and her many friends earnestly believe that she will bring home the honors. Mrs. Braden is making her home at present with her sister, Mrs. Fitzgerald, at her residence in Los Angeles, corner Western and West Adams.

Ingledue's Home

C. W. Ingledue and wife arrived at home yesterday morning at 7:30 from a month's tour in the East. They spent most of the time in Lima, Ohio, whence they moved ten years ago to come to Glendale and in the surrounding country. They have many relatives and hosts of friends there and as this was their first trip back since they left, they had a wonderful time in renewing old acquaintances and visiting the relatives. They found the time they had allotted for the visit all too short for the purpose. On the way home they stopped for a day in Chicago and for a short time in Colorado Springs, where another relative lives.

Entertain Aged Friends

Dr. and Mrs. I. H. Durfee of 114 East Los Feliz Road entertained at dinner last evening Dr. and Mrs. D. R. Dungan, 329 East Lomita avenue; Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Binns, 110 East Maple, and Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Berry, 329 West Lomita avenue. Dr. Dungan is 84, Mr. Binns 82 and Mr. Berry 76. But all are full of life, though the first and last named are very feeble, and it was a very happy gathering for all.

X V I Club

The X V I Club was entertained last Saturday afternoon by Mrs. Hazen Collins of Los Angeles at the home of her mother, Mrs. Annie Farnet, 433 North Louise. This was the first meeting since the summer vacation. Miss Fred Borthick gave a very interesting description of her trip this summer through the Canadian Rockies and displayed many Kodak views which she took of striking scenes. Then a two-course luncheon was served by the hostess and the meeting adjourned. Those present as guests were Misses Lillian Shropshire, May and Carrie Cornwell and Fredonia Borthick, Mesdames Llewellyn Andrews, Lester Jones, Warren Roberts and Henry Storey, the latter of Burbank. The next meeting will be held October 30, with Miss Fred Borthick.

INTERMEDIATE P.T.A.

FIRST MEETING OF YEAR HELD, NEW OFFICERS AT THEIR POSTS

The Intermediate P.T.A. met yesterday afternoon at the schoolhouse and was called to order by the new president, Mrs. H. V. Brown. The other new officers were present, also, and assumed their duties. They are Mrs. Lydia Kulp, vice-president; Mrs. J. C. Kinzy, secretary; Mrs. H. H. Jepson, treasurer; Mrs. A. A. Barton, membership chairman. Prof. Richardson D. White made an address on Amendments 12 and 16, in which he set forth clearly and forcibly the benefits which would accrue to schools, colleges and universities, and thereby to pupils of the same, by the adoption of these measures. A very pleasing vocal solo was rendered by Mrs. Daisy Hall, High School librarian, who was accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Spencer Robinson. Miss Noble, one of the teachers, spoke on the urgent need of a cafeteria for the Intermediate and expressed satisfaction that one was to be established, similar to that now in operation at the High School, as soon as the additions now under construction are completed.

Refreshments were then served and the meeting adjourned.

Some Fisherman

Walter Richardson of 611 East Broadway is about the most enthusiastic fisherman in Glendale. Every few days he slips off to Hermosa and indulges in the pastime and he has gained considerable of a reputation down there as a successful angler. Yesterday afternoon he was fishing for smelts, he says, with a nine-hook line, and caught a herring weighing several pounds on the lower hook, a good-sized mackerel on another and a smelt on another. Herring, he said, almost never take a still bait, and two fish of different kinds are the most that have been previously caught there on one line, he was informed.

Sudden Death

Edgerton Dunham passed away at his home, 306 Ivy street, Monday morning, October 11th, very suddenly. Mr. Dunham went into his garden to do some work, was taken suddenly ill and returned to the house, passing away in a few minutes.

Mr. Dunham had been a resident of Glendale for many years having seen Glendale grow from a small hamlet to its present proportions. He was 65 years of age and a charter member of the Casa Verdugo M. E. church. He was a native of Canada.

The deceased leaves to mourn his death, a wife, Mrs. Cordelia B. Dunham, a daughter, Mrs. Sankey, of the Fairchild apartments and a stepson, Mr. Swinburn.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the parlors of the Jewel City Undertaking Company, Rev. Warren in charge.

Auction Bridge Club

The Auction Bridge Club met yesterday afternoon with Mrs. A. L. Baird, who had decorated her bungalow home in the court at 639 North Orange street, with Hallowe'en colors of yellow and black. High score was won by Mrs. A. W. Beach. Those present in addition to the hostess were Mesdames Dawson of Pasadena, Kimball, Gardner, C. O. Pulliam, Salie Campbell Braden, Roy Hinchcliff, A. O. Whaley, D. H. Smith, W. L. Pruitt, A. W. Beach, J. Herbert Smith.

ENFORCEMENT ACT

WILL BE EXPLAINED TONIGHT
AT HIGH SCHOOL BY SEN-ATOR HARRIS

One of the most important and vital questions before the people today is the strict enforcement of the Prohibition amendment to the Constitution of the United States and on this matter the people need instruction. The Harris' Enforcement Act, which will be explained tonight by its author, Senator Harris, at the High School auditorium, is a state enactment to aid in the work of the National (Volstead) enforcement act. It was passed by the last legislature, but the liquor element is holding it up by a referendum and it will be decided at the November election. All interested, and that should include every voter, should attend the meeting tonight and hear Senator Harris' clear explanation of the question.

CLEVELAND INDIANS NOW WORLD CHAMPS ENTERTAIN FOR SON

BY DEFEATING BROOKLYN AGAIN TODAY CLEVELAND TAKES SERIES AND LARGE PERCENT OF RECEIPTS

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 12.—The Cleveland Indians today won the world's baseball championship by defeating the Brooklyn National League team 3 to 0 in the seventh game of the world series. With Stanley Coveleski, the big Polish spit-baller in the box, Cleveland held Brooklyn scoreless in the final game. This was Coveleski's third victory over the Robins.

The game was featured by loose fielding on both teams, but none of the errors figured in the scoring. Cleveland runs were made by hits in crucial moments.

Final Score:
Brooklyn 0 5 2
Cleveland 3 7 3

Batteries: Grimes and Miller; Coveleski and O'Neill.

MR. AND MRS. A. A. BARTON GIVE DINNER PARTY IN HONOR OF ARTHUR

Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Barton, 639 North Howard street, entertained at a beautiful dinner party Saturday evening for their young son, Arthur, most of the guests being his classmates at the Intermediate school. The house was very attractive with fall flowers, the color scheme being yellow and brown. Reddish-brown shrubs, lion's-tail, etc., were used, giving a rich warm note of color to the decorations. Place cards were planned and painted by the young honoree, with shaggy brown bears and black poodle dogs made prominent.

Covers were laid for Miss Gladys Sharpe, one of the Intermediate school teachers; Miss Lois Hatch, principal of the Doran street school; Misses Marjory Hart, Dorothy Herzog, Beryl Goodale, Winifred Spindler, Charlotte Blakney, and Caroline Ayars; Robert Hatch, Clifford Walcott, Frank West, Eugene Wernette, Dallas Kalbaugh, Arthur Barton and Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Barton.

After dinner a jolly time was spent playing games, ending with a series of charades.

Auto Climbs Curb

A lady driving a brand new Ford Sedan south on Brand this forenoon attempted to park in front of the Acme grocery, at 113, and lost control sending it up over the curb and against one of the heavy pillars of the front. One of the fenders was bent and a headlight frame twisted, but the driver was not injured. She explained that she had been used to a Reo and hence the different gear shift bothered her. The car's license number was 515,678 and the owner's name is listed as R. A. McDonald, Apt. 226, Auditorium Hotel, Los Angeles.

Randall Club Organized

A representative group of Glendale citizens met at the home of Prof. A. B. Heacock, 709 East Windsor Road, last evening and organized a Randall for Congress Club. Officers were selected as follows:

President, W. F. Tower; 1st vice-president, Mattison B. Jones; 2d vice-president, A. G. Lindley; 3d vice-president, A. B. Heacock; secretary, W. D. Root; treasurer, Mrs. Nettie Palmer. Arrangements were made for a rally to be held in the High School auditorium on the evening of Monday, Oct. 25th. Committees were appointed on public meetings and literature. A motion was adopted that the organization recommend the Harris Bill and pledge their best efforts to its success at the polls. The executive committee will conduct an active campaign.

W. F. TOWER, Pres.

Ministerial Association

The regular monthly meeting of the Glendale Ministerial Association was held in the Baptist church, Thursday, October 7th, at 10 a. m. Officers elected for the year were Rev. C. M. Crist, president, and Rev. O. P. Rider, secretary. Among other matters decided upon in this meeting was the following: "Resolved, That the president and secretary be empowered to express to the newspapers of the city the hearty approval of this Association of the Harris Prohibition Enforcement Law which appears upon the November ballot as Amendment Number Two, and that we urge our people to vote and to work for this amendment."

But One Jimmie Pearson

As evidence that there is only one James W. Pearson in the United States, a letter was recently addressed at Arcadia, California, to James W. Pearson, Glendale, Iowa, and the letter immediately found its way to "Jimmie" Pearson's real estate office at 128 North Brand Boulevard, Glendale, California. The sender of the letter evidently made a mistake in writing the name of the state as Iowa instead of California. There was a check for money enclosed payable to Mr. Pearson.

Rear End Auto Collision

Miss Elma Miess of 340 North Central avenue was driving south on San Fernando Road yesterday in her Chalmers car, and when near Forest Lawn had a blowout. A mechanic, G. H. McClain, from the Triangle Garage, was summoned and while he was busily at work putting in a new tube after removing the casing, a Chandler machine, belonging to Mrs. D. B. Chapin of Riverside and driven by her son, ran into the standing car, knocking the mechanic over and bruising him somewhat, but doing no damage to the car. Mrs. Chapin, however, was cut about the face by flying glass from the broken windshield of her car and her son was slightly injured by bumping his mouth on the steering wheel. Both were taken to the Glendale Sanitarium and after their hurts were attended to drove home.

High School Bonds Sold

The $60,000 worth of 6 per cent bonds recently voted for the building of additional rooms for the High School were sold yesterday. Bids for the construction of four 2-room bungalows and a girls' gymnasium will be opened next Monday and it is hoped work will begin on the new buildings at once.

BIBLE CONFERENCE

FIFTH ANNUAL MEETING OPENED LAST NIGHT AT PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

The Fifth Annual Bible Conference of Glendale and San Fernando Valley opened Monday evening in the Glendale Presbyterian church with a "Fellowship Supper" and at 6:45 the doors to the dining hall were thrown open and 170 happy people were seated at the tables, which were beautiful in their white and green decorations. Rev. E. E. Ford of the Baptist church returned thanks, after which those present satisfied the inner man by partaking of the splendid supper prepared by the ladies of the church and congregation. In just a few words, Dr. A. C. Dixon, formerly of the Spurgeon Tabernacle, London, narrated some of the tremendous experiences he passed through as pastor of the London Tabernacle during the war. As he looks back at it now it seems more vast and terrible than when he was in it. He said they soon learned to pray for bad weather for the sake of its protection from the demon Ger- (Continued on Page Six)

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12.—Negotiations over Japanese immigration and anti-Japanese legislation continued at the state department today between Roland Morris, American ambassador to Tokio, and Ambassador Shide Hara, from Japan.

It was believed that Japan may take the position that all laws discriminating against her citizens must be wiped out. The proposed California law would be included.

Revision of the "Gentleman's Agreement" was believed to be under discussion.

ATTEMPT TO ASSASSINATE PRINCE

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

BRUSSELS, Oct. 12.—An attempt to assassinate Prince Regent Alexander of Serbia was made at Sarajevo when a bomb was thrown under his train, according to the Montenegrin Press Bureau. Although two coaches were wrecked, the prince was uninjured.

Following the attempt, the municipal council and mayor of Sarajevo resigned.

Sarajevo was the scene of the assassination of Francis Ferdinand, Austrian crown prince, which precipitated the European war in 1914.

DENTON CASE AWAITS GRAND JURY ACTION

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 12.—The Denton murder investigation was today awaiting the action of the county grand jury on Thursday. Deputy District Attorney Doran declared he took little stock in the theory that the Denton murder was connected with the killing of Albert Norwood, former bunko man, who was slain several months ago. Questioning of new witnesses was scheduled for today.

PLANS FOR FINANCING COTTON CROP

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 12.—Plans for financing the cotton crop for the southwest were announced today following a meeting of a group of the leading bankers, who said they had worked out a system for extending credit to cotton growers through country banks. Twenty cents per pound for long staple cotton and eight cents per pound for short staple cotton will be allowed.

GROCERY PRICES DROP

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 12.—A general downward trend in wholesale grocery prices has set in, according to the statement of Clyde R. Weber, secretary of the Southern California Retail Grocers' Association. The cutting of prices follows the announcement of reduction in Ford automobile prices, according to Weber.

J. H. SMITH HONORED

CHOSEN 1ST VICE-PRESIDENT
GROCERS' ASSOCIATION AT DEL MONTE CONVENTION

J. Herbert Smith and wife arrived at home last Friday night from the North. They left September 14th, hence were gone nearly four weeks. They traveled nearly 2000 miles. The coast route was taken on the up trip and a brief stop made at Santa Barbara, then they went on to Del Monte to attend the annual Grocers' Picnic. They enjoyed the many scenic drives in and about the little city. Mr. Smith was honored by being elected first vice-president of the association. This convention was one of the most successful and instructive yet held.

Tuesday evening, Sept. 21st, the delegates and their wives were invited by the Alpine Evaporated Cream Company of Gonzales to a delightful banquet at the Alpine Tavern on the King's Highway. Leaving Del Monte at 4 p. m. and arriving at 5:30 the delegates were escorted on a trip of inspection through the big plant where the milk is canned, by Vice-President and General Manager Ira H. Latour and a full corps of assistants. The delegates and their la- (Continued on Page 6)

Nora Bayes Sings

How cosmopolitan is New York? Nora Bayes will tell you. She'll go into details and tell you who these cosmopolites are. This popular vaudeville artist makes records exclusively for Columbia. In her latest song hit, "The Argentines, The Portuguese, and The Greeks," she makes little old New York chuckle and agree with Nora Bayes.

Crumit's song, "My Little Bimbo Down on the Bamboo Isle," describes how he was wrecked by a Zulu maiden's smile. He sings on this Columbia Record of this dangerous dusky dame on a South Sea isle.

"Cuban Moon," fox-trot, played by Art Hickman's Orchestra for Columbia Records, will promote dancing anywhere. On the other side of this record, Hickman's Orchestra plays "In Old Manila" with a tango swing, aided by Crumit, who sings the chorus.

Cars, Ice Cream Tubs

The problems that confront business are apt to differ only in size. The railroads struggle to get the most out of a freight car and talk in terms of hundreds of thousands of cars and hundreds of millions of dollars. An added mile a day for each car is equivalent to 100,000 new cars. Increase the average loading to thirty tons and you have the equivalent of so many more thousands.

The ice-cream manufacturers have a problem that parallels that of the railroads, but they talk in terms of five-gallon tubs and thousands of dollars. The same end is sought—to make the tub move faster. It is easy to figure: The annual charge for containers work out a 3 cents to the gallon of ice-cream. On a basis of 100,000 gallons the expense is $3,000. The average tub is away two weeks. Cut that in two and $1,500 a year is saved. What is the remedy urged? Charge the retailer for the container and give him back his money if he returns it promptly. Some system of demurrage charge seems to fit the ice-cream tub as well as the freight car.—The Nation's Business.

Paper Shortage

A condition in the Philadelphia public schools foreshadows what the shortage of print paper means and what, if it continues, will be the result, declares the Fourth Estate, a newspaper trade publication.

The shortage of paper in one of that city's high schools is so acute that pupils are forced to study from notes.

In many of the elementary grades school books are so old that they are unsanitary.

Although the board of education has made appropriations, the scarcity of books, caused by paper shortage and increased prices, has forced the board to transfer funds from other branches in order to help and this has not yet been sufficient.

Thus paper shortage clogs the wheels of education.

The effect on newspapers was felt some time ago.

Where it will lead to, if it continues, is a puzzle to the best equipped optimist.

How Fast Can You Read

When a man reads 250 words to 350 words a minute he is usually satisfied with his degree of proficiency. At that rate he is conscious of little effort in reading, things go smoothly and he somehow gets enough reading done to suffice for his needs. It is the minimum rate of general comfort and convenience. It excludes the entire field of reading not immediately or practically required.

That the rate of reading can be raised easily to 500 words a minute has been proved in the educational laboratories. In many cases it can be raised to 700 and even 900 words a minute. Technical training in the reading process, according to Dr. W. S. Monroe of the bureau of educational measurements of the University of Illinois, will increase our general reading efficiency as much as threefold.

The significance of such an increase is not difficult to understand. Greater reading capacity should tend to stimulate all departments of society. Book publishers will rejoice when Gwendolyn can read three best sellers in the time that she now takes to read one. Authors will speed up.

Universities will crowd six years of work into three. Everybody will find time to read "Paradise Lost."

The painful fact remains, however, that in our present plodding way most of us read as much as we want to read. For more reading it is the will rather than the facility that ordinarily is lacking.

One or the Other

"Brakeman, are you positive this train will stop at Gary?"

Finally half a dozen times the fussy old lady had asked the question, and the man began to lose patience.

"Now, look here, madame," he replied finally, "this is an express to Gary, and if we don't stop there then you'll be in the biggest smash-up you ever heard of!"

If prices are falling, they make a noise more like leaves than walnuts.

Thrilling Experience

During the week a series of free balloon flights were made from Ross Field, one of which ended disastrously for Cadet Kenneth L. Frazier of the present class of cadets receiving training at that post.

After several officers and cadets had taken the balloon up for flights that morning, the big 19,000 cubic foot bag was turned over to Cadet Frazier for a solo flight. The previous flights had taken the balloon to a point north of Sunland and Cadet Frazier started his solo from there at 11:20 a.m. He traveled northwest crossing the San Gabriel mountains at an altitude of 5000 feet, descended on the north side and not finding a suitable landing place threw out a sack of ballast and rose again. This second rise carried him to 6400 feet and after drifting along at this altitude for a short time he came upon an inviting stretch of wheat country that looked good for a landing. As the balloon neared the ground Cadet Frazier called to a group of farmers working in the fields below, to catch the grab rope. They replied that they were too busy and stood watching the balloon as it drifted by them. As he was rapidly approaching Elizabeth Lake Cadet Frazier decided to rip the balloon and land without any assistance from the ground.

His course was along a small canyon southeast of Elizabeth Lake, but as he neared the mouth of the canyon a gale from the lake struck the balloon and carried it up against the side of the hill. Cadet Frazier ripped the balloon as it neared the ground but it immediately parachuted and catching the wind started to drag. The wind dragged the partially deflated balloon over the crest of the hill and up against a 60,000 volt high tension line of the Southern California Edison company, shorting two of the wires. The flash that followed ignited the hydrogen in the balloon which instantly became a mass of flames. A jet of fire came down through the appendix and struck Cadet Frazier in the face, whereupon he dropped into the bottom of the basket throwing up his arms to shield his face from the heat. As the burning fabric fell to the ground the heat subsided and Frazier managed to crawl out of the basket in a semi-conscious condition. A passerby picked up the cadet in his car and took him to a hospital at Lancaster, about 20 miles from the place of the accident. Here they found he was badly burned about the face and arms and somewhat bruised, but not seriously injured. An ambulance was dispatched from Ross Field to bring the cadet back and he is now in the hospital well on the road to recovery.

Different There

The pupils of various schools in Blankville were recently vaccinated, and when each boy had been attended to the doctor gave him a red ribbon bearing these words, "I have been vaccinated," to wear on his coat sleeve.

One lad proceeded to adjust the ribbon to his arm.

You're putting it on the wrong arm," said the physician.

"No I'm not," said the wise youth. "You don't know the boys at our school.—Edinburgh Scotsman.

Condition Change

It is within our lifetime that gentlemen did not feel the assurance to smoke in the presence of ladies without permission. But time and the order changeth. Now the noble and chivalrous sex smoketh without regard, and even wants to take the habit of the cafe into the office and make a smoke-house out of it to the detriment of business and the annoyance and occasionally nausea of the ladies who have to earn their living by working with them. Even the heads of departments appear unable to refrain from laughing and smoking their pipes while callers are waiting in the reception room to see them. And then, there are the representatives of the superior sex who, when requested not to smoke in the office, go out in the halls and other places and rob the Company of time to smoke. Marvelous self-control, we will say. Yes, the order changeth.—Pacific Electric Magazine.

The cost of keeping up appearances is hardly ever worth it.

The moral and mental inspiration Winsor McKay's cartoons in the Los Angeles Examiner have encouraged many a broken man to success.

Curbing Rent Profiteers

Thousands of families in New York state are being saved from summary eviction from rented homes by the operation of a law which has just become effective there. The purpose of the law is to prevent profiteering landlords from raising rents without good reason.

The law requires that, in cases where complaints are filed by tenants, the landlord shall file with the court a statement of his investment in the property, the cost of maintenance and other items that may properly enter into the returns which should come from rentals.

If the court finds that there is no good reason for the proposed advance in rents the rate is continued by order of the court; but if the increase is justified in the opinion of the court, the tenant is ordered to pay the advance or quit the property.

The principal advantage to the tenant is that he is able to get his case into court before the process of eviction has been carried out, and if he is discharging the obligations of a desirable tenant, he is protected in the continued use of the property until the case has been decided by the court.

The statute may not stand the test of the higher courts, but if it does, it might be followed with profit in other states.

The Radio Telephone

"Tuning-in" on wireless telephone communications between San Pedro and Catalina Island is becoming quite a favorite sport in Southern California. All of which illustrates the fact that wireless telephone communication is far from being a private means of vocal intercourse.

For example: One young lady in Los Angeles with a very pleasing voice called the room clerk at the St. Catherine Hotel and requested that a room with twin beds be reserved for her over the week-end. Some big gruff-voiced gob, presumably on one of Uncle Sam's destroyers, somewhere in the Pacific, "lipped in" and inquired what the argument was about. The room clerk is trying yet to square himself with the prospective customer.

Then again: A young couple were conversing via wireless between Pasadena and Catalina Island. She asked him if he had received her last letter and John said "yes dear." "Well don't pay any attention to what I said in that letter because I didn't mean a word of it and I am sorry." And John said that was all right as he was used to such treatment. Whereupon another receiver went bang upon its hook and all communication was lost.

Then you can hear the afternoon baseball scores being relayed to the resort island and a few late market reports. Believe us—it's an interesting sport.

Invention's Role

The part which American inventing genius played in helping to win the war is for the first time made known through the publication by the navy department of the official story of the work of the naval consulting board, the organization of distinguished scientists and inventors, of which Thomas A. Edison was head.

Long before this country entered the war the naval consulting board was brought into being as a means of studying new problems of modern warfare, and, if possible, meeting these problems with new devices. In course of time the board became the clearing house for new ideas, not only from its own members but from the public, and its work along these lines constitutes one of the most remarkable chapters in the history of American invention.

The story of what was accomplished is told by Captain Lloyd N. Scott, formerly of the inventions section of the army general staff, who was assigned to act as liaison officer to the naval consulting board and its war committee of technical experts. It comprises a volume of 288 pages, with a large number of charts and other illustrations showing some of the principal inventions and devices actually turned out. Of course the record is not complete. As pointed out by the secretary of the navy, in a foreword, some of the inventions were of such importance that they "must still be held confidential."

"Everyone expected that the board would evolve some invention that would conquer the central powers with one fell swoop," remarks Captain Scott. "Had the war lasted another year an important and confidential device not described herein would have probably justified this expectation, in a degree at least; and other devices evolved by the board, such as wireless controlled bombs, devices for the automatic introduction of all the factors in the aiming of machine guns on airplanes, as well as others, gave promise of such results."

Gave Dizzy Away

Disreali's wife said once to an astonished circle in an English country house, "Dizzy has the most wonderful moral and political courage; but he has no physical courage; I always have to pull the string of his shower bath."

HARDING PLEDGES SOCIAL JUSTICE

Senator Harding, in a recent address to a large delegation of women at Marion, pledged himself to seek to bring about a policy of social welfare and social justice, especially as regards the interests of women and children.

"I pledge myself today," Senator Harding said, "to support with all that is in me whatever practical policy of social welfare and social justice can be brought forward by the combined wisdom of all Americans. Nothing can concern America more deeply than the health, the happiness and the enlightenment of every fellow-American."

Senator Harding does not fear that greater effort on the part of the federal government in the interests of social welfare may be carried to the extent of dangerous paternalism, but he would include such measures as will contribute to the general happiness of the people, such as is being done on a small scale by the department of child welfare.

"Social justice is not a mere sentiment," Senator Harding said. "To my mind a social justice policy in government can not and should not be confined to a program for a flow of benefits from some uncertain and magic source at the seat of government. The best social welfare enables men and women to live righteously and do their task well."

Perhaps the most important work in the line of social welfare, in the opinion of Senator Harding, is that which is being done for children on a limited scale, but which should be enlarged and made to include many things not now possible as an annex to the educational work under the department of the interior.

Senator Harding intimated that he might, if elected, propose that a woman be placed at the head of the projected department of social welfare and that the work be dignified by a place for her in the cabinet. Whether or not this should be done, there is need of just such a work as is proposed by Senator Harding.

HOPE IN RUSSIA'S PLIGHT

Europe almost generally and America in particular are agreed that the only hope of permanent peace in Europe lies in the overthrow of the soviet government of Russia. The government has proved its incapacity to care for its own people, and it has given ample demonstration of its hostility toward the forms of government in other nations.

Recent dispatches from Russia and adjoining countries would seem to indicate that the bolshevist government is growing in bad repute with the masses of Russians, who are said to be facing the winter with dread, for hunger and privation are certain to exact a terrible toll of lives.

The only thing that can keep Russia from wearing Poland out by sheer force of numbers is the probability that the Russian people are so heart-sick of the war and the condition into which bolshevism has plunged them, that they will rebel against carrying on a conflict that causes them still greater suffering.

There must be a limit to the extent to which any people will permit their leaders to carry them into the depths of national misery and economical chaos, and it may be that this limit is very near to being reached by the Russian people. The readiness with which so many Russian soldiers surrender may be the indication of a national sickness nigh unto death—the death of morale.

It may be too much to expect that bolshevism will be overthrown in Russia before the millions in that country have tasted the rigors of another Muscovite winter; but it seems reasonable to believe that the time is nearing when the masses will assert themselves against their red leaders and seek to establish a government along sane lines, with the purpose of living in peace and harmony with other nations.

THE LURE OF THE OPEN

One envies the two Brooklyn Boy Scouts who have just completed a journey afoot to the Pacific coast and back.

With their feet planted on the soil at every step of the journey they saw a thousand interesting things that the ordinary traveler misses. The latter usually leaves the train only at cities, and American cities are more or less standardized. The streets of New York, Chicago, Denver, San Francisco and Los Angeles present much the same appearance. To be sure, the railway traveler sees from the car window the striking features of the landscape—the farms, the towns, the rivers, the plains, the mountains; but only the pedestrian has a chance to observe in a leisurely and appreciative manner the changes in fauna and flora and the variations in the interests of the people that are encountered in crossing the continent.

Few can spare the time for so long a journey. But all can have at least a taste of the pleasures of cross-country walking. There is an almost country-wide resumption of interest in the formation of hiking clubs, affiliated with the League of Walkers, an international association of pedestrian and alpine clubs, which offers prizes for the most interestingly written narratives of walking trips and gives medals for such feats as the walking of 30 miles in 24 hours.

Organization of a hiking club is commended to the attention of persons who seek companionship on their walks or desire guidance as to the most interesting routes for short journeys afoot.

THE FOREIGN ISSUE IN JAPAN

Japan has always shown herself extremely chary of admitting foreigners within her own borders. Until the middle of the last century no foreigner was allowed on Japanese soil, and when they were admitted foreigners were permitted to reside only in certain specified settlements. Outside these settlements, land-owning, even for residential or business purposes, was absolutely prohibited. In 1910 the Japanese Diet passed a law permitting foreigners to own land. But the law was hedged about by many qualifications.

The most interesting fact, however, remains to be told. In addition to all the above-mentioned qualifications, it was provided that the law was to go into effect only when promulgated by imperial ordinance. And for ten years it has not been promulgated, thus remaining a dead letter. Recently press dispatches from Japan announced that the imperial government is about to promulgate the law, but at this writing it is apparently not yet in force.

ARE WE DOWN HEARTED?

It is time to ask ourselves, "Are we downhearted?" answer, "No," and mix up the old American formula of confidence and a little bluff, good humor, sentimentality, a little altruism, and a keen appreciation of the main chance, take a big dose of it, forget our troubles, and go to work. There are a half dozen fine big jobs beckoning to us and we are in the prime of life. What more could a nation want?

A Youthful Prodigy

It is refreshing to learn that the 14-year-old Pennsylvania boy who has just enrolled at Harvard University, with the distinction of being the youngest student to matriculate there since 1674, plays baseball as well as he solves problems in calculus or uses the five languages which he is reported to have mastered. One is disposed to stand just a little in awe of a child possessed of such profound learning, but his confession that he finds his greatest pleasure not in books but on the diamond shows him to be human and likable. His fondness for sport marks him as a normal boy in all save his intellectual endowment. So many youthful prodigies of learning have failed to fulfill their early promise that it is not always safe to assume that the intellect which is brilliant in the child will continue to be brilliant in the adult. But enough of such prodigies have later made their mark in the world to make it unsafe to declare that it is undesirable for children to show such precocity.

Prof. and Mrs. C. E. Houdyshel of Los Angeles spent Sunday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. Houdyshel, 308 North Orange street. The occasion was Prof. Houdyshel's birthday and a festive dinner with the customary birthday trimmings was enjoyed by the family.

A surprise party was given for Mrs. Anna Goddard of 517 West Park avenue last evening by several neighbors who invaded her home, taking with them varied refreshments, which were served during the evening. Those present as guests were Mesdames Spear, Dutton, Burleigh, Peck, Oliffs and Tummel, and Miss Mabel Overton.

There is a shortage of plaster in all the Southland and many new houses are standing uncompleted because material cannot be had. Some have already waited 10 days from this cause. There is also a dearth of cement workers and some carpenters have been forced to put in walks and porches on jobs they were in a hurry to complete.

On Saturday evening, Dr. and Mrs. F. B. Storer, of Gardena avenue, entertained at a dinner party in honor of their daughter Louise's birthday. The guests included some of Miss Storer's most intimate friends, namely, the Misses Sarah Faye Snell, Katherine Hollingsworth and Ruth Ryan, also Mrs. Hurlbert Harrison, of Los Angeles, Miss Storer's sister. Mrs. Storer was assisted by her mother, Mrs. Jensen.

Some recent building permits taken out were those of Henry Ward, five rooms and a garage at 108 N. Belmont, $4200; Lester Ingram, four rooms, 105 East Eulalia, $2500; A. F. Stowe, five rooms, 120 Franklin Court, $1200; F. W. Cornell, one room, 632 East Elk avenue, $600; Mrs. Russell, addition of sleeping porch, 322 Riverdale Drive, $500; H. V. Pratt, garage, 465 West California avenue.

Mrs. B. F. Geiger, of 428 North Kenwood street, has had as her guests an aunt, Mrs. A. P. Simpson, of El Paso, Illinois, and her daughter, Miss Berta Simpson, of Rensselaer, Indiana. Miss Simpson is a deaconess in charge of a girls' school at that place. Mrs. Simpson and daughter expect to leave for the east in about three weeks, after visiting relatives and friends in and around Los Angeles.

D. E. Reed of 331 Myrtle was in quite an auto mixup Sunday afternoon at the crossing of Los Feliz and San Fernando Roads. He was driving east on Los Feliz, another was driving west when a third man driving south crashed into the two. No one was hurt but there was a big jam of autos from all four directions for half an hour. None of the machines in collision was damaged enough to prevent it traveling.

Mrs. L. G. Parker wrote the Evening News as follows under date of Oct. 3, from Cleveland, Ohio: "Please deliver the Evening News, after Oct. 9, to Apartment 28, 106-A West Broadway. I start back on the 16th and expect to reach Glendale on the 21st. The papers have come to me regularly here and I have enjoyed them much. We have had a delightfully cool summer in Cleveland, with much rain, but I shall be glad to get back to the land of sunshine.

Mrs. A. R. Sherlock, who was in hospital work overseas for more than a year and has since coming home been living in San Diego, is now employed in Glendale with the hope of making this city his home.

Mrs. Jennie Peterson took out a permit yesterday for extensive repairs to her property at 425 West California avenue. A garage is to be built, the front porch of the house repaired and a new screen porch built.

Frank Johnson, the ex-newspaper man and erstwhile grocery salesman for Chaffee's, naturally believes in advertising, but this feeling was confirmed by his recent experience with an Evening News classified ad, which called for the most difficult thing in Glendale to find just now, a house to rent. Yet one insertion of a three-line ad brought an answer and he promptly rented housekeeping rooms at 215 East Lomita avenue. He has furnished these and will drive down to Santa Ana tomorrow evening and bring his wife and two children back to occupy them with him.

The Days of New Sport

Dr. W. T. Hornaday, the zoologist, foresees the extinction of game animals in the United States unless laws for their protection are made more stringent. The feat of a New Jersey clergyman in catching a 358-pound shark with hook and line at Cape May a few days ago after a hard struggle suggests that it is not necessary to go into the forest for an encounter with savage or powerful animals. Even though deer and bear should pass, the sea will continue to those who lust for conflict. And it will not soon be emptied of its monsters. Big game fishing, as compared with hunting, is a new sport. As its possibilities are developed, men responding to the instincts inherited from primitive ancestors, will turn more and more to it for excitement.

Mrs. H. D. Goss of 510 East Harvard, entertained at dinner today Mrs. Sidney Thomas Exley of Los Angeles, president Los Angeles District Federation of Women's Clubs. Mrs. Exley came out to install the new president of the Tuesday Afternoon Club, Mrs. C. E. Hutchinson.

Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Denison of 702 East Harvard street had as week-end guests, Mrs. R. O. Denison and little daughter Geraldine, of Torrance, and Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Cassidy and family of Ventura. Mrs. R. O. Denison expects to join her husband in Manilla in the near future, he being the general manager of a large business house there for a San Francisco firm.

J. M. Hague and wife have moved from 540 Oak street to 461 West Elk avenue; H. W. Reed from 414 East Wilson avenue to 524 East Elk avenue; Mrs. E. D. Baker from 1912 Gardena avenue to 1950 Park Grove, Los Angeles; F. M. Farrand from 1421 East Colorado to 216 North Cedar; A. A. Woodside from 236 Dayton Court to 912 East California avenue; C. R. Heaton from 314 East Palmer avenue to 314 West Broadway; C. H. Ferris from 454 West Maple to 2118 Stanford avenue, Los Angeles.

The golfer who was employing him was playing very badly and the caddie threw himself down on the grass at one point and watched him. When the man had at last succeeded in getting his ball out of the bunker, he glanced toward the boy and remarked: "You must be tired, lying down at this time of day."

"I ain't tired of carrying," said the caddie, "but I certainly am tired of counting."—Boston Transcript.

Horrifying Accidents

Two horrifying auto accidents in the last few days that ought to serve as a warning to every motorist in the country have been detailed at great length in the daily papers. Both seem to have been due to the popular craze for speed and impatience at waiting till conditions are safe. In one near Long Beach the driver turned out to pass the car just in front of him and collided with a big machine coming toward him that had the right of way. His daughter was killed and his wife probably fatally injured. The other was near Glendale. A driver attempted to beat a fast passenger train on the Santa Fe over the crossing and met the big engine squarely. All five of the occupants of the machine were killed.

OXYGEN POWER

YOUNG FARMER MAY HAVE SOLVED THE PROBLEM OF CHEAP TRANSPORTATION

Reliable information comes to the Editor of the Evening News that Arthur C. Bundy, a former acquaintance of his at Polo, Illinois, is about to become famous on account of an invention which he has perfected.

The invention comprises an oxygen engine that is destined to revolutionize transportation costs throughout the world. The Daily Freeman Journal of Webster City, Iowa, says

"There is no doubt about the Bundy invention," declared L. H. McMasters,

Government Chemical Engineer, who is in this city assisting with detailed perfection of the power and heat process discovered by Arthur C. Bundy. "When I was first sent here I was skeptical," he continued, "and thought it was another fake, but I am thoroughly convinced that it is the greatest invention

the world has ever known." The project is now backed by $25,000,000, McMasters declares, some of the largest capitalists in the East being interested. The Curtis Aeroplane Co., the International Harvester Co., and many others have written Mr. Bundy offering him assistance of any kind in the way

CAPTURE ESCAPED PRISONERS

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 12.—Charles Roberts, J. J. Howington and E. R. Hanna, prisoners who escaped last night from Alcatraz Island Military Prison, were picked up off Goat Island this morning by the crew of a Southern Pacific ferry boat. The three men were clinging to the wreckage of a raft on which they made their escape from Alcatraz Island. They were near exhaustion when captured.

FIVE KILLED BY SINK FEINERS

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

DUBLIN, Ireland, Oct. 12.—Five police officers were killed today by Sinn Feiners. Two officers were shot to death during a raid on a house at Drumcondra this morning. One civilian was wounded. The assailants escaped. Three constables were killed at Ballinderry.

LAMPS FOR CHINAMEN

The Standard Oil Company of New York had educated the Chinese to the use of kerosene by first giving away oil lamps, which it named "Mei Foo," meaning, in Chinese, "good luck," and later selling them at cost to the tune of two million a year. With four hundred million Chinese to learn the use of kerosene, here was an unlimited market for a petroleum product which by then had become relatively less valuable than gasoline in the American market.

Cigarettes Banned

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Cal., Oct. 12. (United Press)—Henceforth any young woman student of Stanford who is caught smoking will be expelled. This was the edict of Miss Harriet Bradford, dean of women. She made plain to girls of Roble Hall that cigarettes—perfumed or just plain makin's—will not be tolerated.

BIBLE CONFERENCE

(Continued from Page 1) man air raiders, who, in fair weather, could see and follow the Thames river. The large lecture room of the great tabernacle was below ground surrounded with heavy foundation walls and thus especially protected. This place very soon became a great place of refuge to the enormous crowds which rushed there at the time of the raids. These crowds became great evangelistic gatherings and so it continued nearly every night for two years. Dr. Dixon preached fifty times on the 46th Psalm, "God is our refuge and strength, a very present help in time of trouble," etc. This wonderful psalm would turn fright into smiles. There were many conversions during these days and many great sinners were brought to God. The terrors, hardships and deaths during this period were never told or known outside of London, yet God gave them such peace as never before. At the close of these interesting remarks those present adjourned to the auditorium where the service was opened by song and the reading of that psalm which had comforted so many, many times the sorrowful London congregations. Solos rendered by Mrs. Fannie Marple Retts and by Orin Padell were followed by Dr. Dixon's presentation of his subject, "God's Search for Man," in which he pointed out the difference between all other religions and Christianity. In others all men are seeking for God while in Christianity God is seeking man. "We want to learn something of God's method of searching for man. He does it by the individual, man by man, not in the mass, as even in Spurgeon's work in addressing great crowds, always the real results were obtained by the personal touch. It is through you and me that God wants to work. A lost soul is one out of right relationship with God. Does God possess you? There is a vast difference between ownership and possession. God may own you and yet not have the power, the use of you. If He does have the use of you, our results will follow. First of all we must seek the sheep which is lost; this far more than the feeding of the saved, fat sheep. Many are the sermons preached before great congregations which yield no results in the saving of souls, but how many times some little word uttered in private to one unsaved soul brings that soul to God. Go near to the individual! Go after that which is lost until you find it! Immeasurable results may come if each one would seek every day to bring some one to Jesus."

Auto Supplants Horse

OAKLAND, Cal., Oct. 12. (United Press)—An idea of the extent to which automobiles are replacing horses can be obtained from a record on one week's traffic over the High street bridge here. Here's the record:

Automobiles, 6,337.
Motor trucks, 907.
Pedestrians, 2,892.
Horse-drawn vehicles, 155.

World's Egg Basket

PETALUMA, Cal., Oct. 12. (United Press)—A total of 21,678 365 dozen eggs were produced in Petaluma, "the world's egg basket," from January 1st to October 1st, according to estimates.

This number, equal to 722,612 cases, covers all eggs used for hatcheries, for local consumption and shipped elsewhere. This represents an increase of 30 per cent over the same period last year.

dies were then escorted to the Alpine Tavern where Manager R. J. McCabe, on behalf of the company, extended most cordial welcome. High class entertainment features were provided.

A special corps of cooks and waiters engaged for the occasion served one of the finest banquets the delegates ever attended.

This in spite of the fact of the Tavern's remote location. There were for dancing to the fascinating music of the orchestra, and it was nearly midnight when the happy affair ended.

The delegates and their ladies then motored back to Del Monte. Friends and relatives were visited in San Jose, Alameda, Berkeley, Oakland and San Francisco, and the State Capital in Sacramento, Stockton, Manteo, Fresno and Porterville were visited on the way home through the San Joaquin Valley.

They had exceptionally good weather. Only once on the trip was rain encountered and this was at Fresno, where there was a very heavy storm.

"The country traveled through looked very prosperous," said Mr. Smith. "Roads were in fine shape. Building conditions did not appear to be so extensive as in the south, although there seemed to be a dearth of rental property."

Mr. and Mrs. Smith saw no place that appealed to them like the home city of Glendale. They enjoyed their trip immensely, but were glad to be home again.
